

2017 IREM® Diversity Scholars Program

The Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM) and the IREM Foundation are sponsors of the IREM Diversity Scholars Program. This program recognizes IREM Members from underrepresented groups in the real estate management profession who have demonstrated leadership skills at the chapter level, an interest in advancing their leadership skills at IREM at the national level, and in advancing their property management careers using IREM networking and resources. Diversity Scholars will be given the opportunity to attend the IREM Fall Conference, work with a mentor, and serve on the Diversity Advisory Board.

Award

- Complimentary registration to attend the IREM Fall Conference in Chicago, IL, on October 10-14, 2017.
- A travel subsidy of $1,000 toward hotel accommodations, airfare, meals, and incidentals at the Conference.
- An assigned mentor from local chapter
- Complimentary IREM® leadership development materials
- A voting membership position on the Diversity Advisory Board

Diversity Scholar Eligibility

- Must be an IREM® Member
- Must identify as a member of an underrepresented group in the real estate management profession (examples of underrepresented groups may include, but are not limited to gender, creed, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, individuals with disabilities, and race)
